Announces

CFO SUMMIT

19th May, 2014
New Delhi
CFO SUMMIT

The role of Chief Financial Officer (CFO) is changing. No longer simply the financial gatekeeper, today's CFO is equally valued as a strategic partner and leader of the business. With businesses facing an increasingly competitive operating climate, increased regulation, greater risks and more complexity, today's finance leader faces multiple challenges and opportunities.

The watchword for CFOs today is value creation. The role of the CFO at forward-looking companies has in recent years expanded beyond the traditional one of overseeing financial reporting and controls and has extended to supporting the development of the business.

The Institute of Cost Accountants of India is organizing a CFO Summit for providing a platform for CFOs and Finance leaders from various public and private sector organizations to deliberate on the current industry challenges and to learn from each other’s experience on 19th May, 2014. This one-day summit will be presented in a series of panel discussions led by Industry leaders from Finance domain.

CMA – CFO awards has been instituted with the aim to recognize and showcase the significant contributions to operational efficiency, Risk Management, value creation, Improving Corporate Governance and CSR, and innovations in Management Accounting Practices made by members of the Institute in employment holding position of Chief Financial Officer in manufacturing sector (public and private) and Service sector. The details of the award and the nomination process can be downloaded from the website of the Institute.
